Pacific Cases in Full Text

As Alan Edwards advised on the anz-law-librarians Internet list in October, the USP Law School in Port Vila, Vanuatu, has begun loading Pacific case law in full text on their Internet site. There are already cases loaded from Fiji, Kiribati and Solomon Islands, with case law from other jurisdictions to be added.

This is a wonderful development – one that was planned at the University of Papua New Guinea in 1983 but never realised owing to lack of resources. Peter Murgatroyd advises that “Pacific Law Materials” is a long-term scanning project. The Law School also plans to load Pacific legislation in full text, so far as copyright allows. Have a look at this site so you are aware of what is available and bookmark it for future reference.
